Conjunctive use of surface and groundwater using artificial intelligence to meet the rising need for water in India.

Dr. Sushant Kumar

sushantkumar2792@gmail.com

Assistant Professor(Civil Engineering)

Plot no. 7, knowledge park ii, Greater noida, Uttar pradesh-201310

Technical Details :

Scheme :	Start-up Research Grant
Research Area :	Civil Engineering (Engineering Sciences)
Duration :	24 Months	Contact No :	+917827016117
Date of Birth :	27-Dec-1992

Project Summary :

In this proposal conjunctive use of groundwater along with the surface water from a large hydraulic structures such as earth dam, etc can be carried out in a most efficient way so that sustainability must be maintained. The basic idea of conjunctive use is using surplus surface water during rainy monsoon seasons while utilising the groundwater for the period of non-availability of surface water. During the water surplus months the seepage caused near large earth dams leads to recharge of groundwater causing the groundwater table to rise. While on the other hand, depletion of groundwater occurs during the pumping season, when surface water is scarce. As the use of seepage from an earth dam to recharge groundwater is a common practice in many parts of the world, and can be an effective way to improve groundwater management and increase water security. When an earth dam is built, a portion of the stored water will naturally seep through the dam and into the underlying soil and rock formations. This seepage can contribute to the recharge of groundwater aquifers, replenishing the groundwater resources and increasing the amount of water available for extraction. Optimisation of water use from surface water and groundwater will be carried out by developing a model based on Artificial intelligence. The origin of the proposal to address the problem of conjunctive use of water is difficult to trace as it likely arises from a variety of sources including water management agencies, non-profit organizations, academic institutions, and other stakeholders concerned about the efficient and sustainable use of water resources. Conjunctive use of water refers to the integrated management of different water sources such as surface water, groundwater, and recycled or treated wastewater, to meet the demands of various water users in an optimal manner. This approach seeks to balance the competing demands for water by different sectors (e.g. agricultural, urban, industrial, etc.) and to ensure that the available water resources are used in the most efficient and sustainable way. The problem of conjunctive use of water arises from the fact that water is a finite and increasingly scarce resource, and that traditional approaches to water management that rely on a single source of water (e.g. surface water or groundwater) are often inadequate to meet the growing demands for water from different sectors. The conjunctive use of water aims to address this problem by improving the efficiency and sustainability of water use and helping to ensure that water resources are managed in a way that meets the needs of all stakeholders

Objectives :

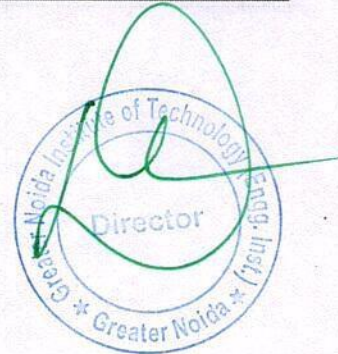

- Assess the current situation of water availability, demand, and utilization in India, with a particular focus on the regions facing acute water scarcity and the potential for conjunctive use of surface and groundwater in these regions.
- Evaluate the technical, economic, and environmental feasibility of conjunctive use of surface and groundwater in the selected regions, taking into account the available resources, infrastructure, and institutional frameworks.
- Analyze the effectiveness of existing policies, programs, and strategies related to the conjunctive use of surface and groundwater, identify their strengths and weaknesses, and propose recommendations for improving their implementation.
- Investigate the social and cultural aspects of water use and management in the selected regions, including the perceptions, attitudes, and behaviors of different stakeholders towards conjunctive use of surface and groundwater.
- Develop a comprehensive framework for the conjunctive use of surface and groundwater that integrates technical, economic, environmental, and social considerations, and evaluate its potential for scalability and replicability in other regions of India.

Your Proposal has been submitted successfully to SERB.

Kindly quote project's file no CRG/2023/003284/EEC in all future correspondence. The project's file no. should be mentioned in all communications arising from the above project.

Minutes of Meeting

Third meeting of IIC/GNIOT was conducted in Institute incubation center on 08/02/2021 at 12.30 PM. All IIC members, Director GNIOT, HoD's and our mentors for IIC from Industry were present in the meeting. Mentor industry experts were Shri Saurav Agarwal, Country head TCS and Shri Ajay Sharma, Senior Delivery Manager IBM.

Dr Anuranjan Mishra, Dean R&D started the meeting with his inaugural talk where-in he explained that GNIOT has established IIC in the campus and this information has been shared with our students and faculty members with expectation of ideas from them. Dr Anuranjan Mishra informed that he is heading IIC and Dr Mahipal Singh Rawat is heading Tinkering Lab. He also explained about the programs conducted by IIC during 2nd quarter. A total of about 16 programs have been conducted in 1st & 2nd quarter in online & offline mode and the progress is highly satisfactory. The plan for 3rd quarter is to conduct about 20 programs in offline mode as far as possible. Details of these programs will be notified in due course of time. These would cover both MIC and self driven programs. He sought the approval of the august body for which all the members readily agreed.

Dean R&D informed that we are visiting villages and are aiming for projects which can be put up in the villages so that the society in general can reap the benefits out of such projects. Director GNIOT suggested that we concentrate on some live problems being faced by industries and our Industry mentors would play a pivotal role in guiding such issues. It was also deliberated that we can pick industry problems from AICTE sites where our students and faculty can contribute. Meeting ended on a healthy note.

Regarding: Addendum to IPR clause of Research Policy vide no. GNIOT-GOI/DG/2020-21/655 at sequence number-6

This has been highlighted by the honorable Director during verbal discussions on assessing the quality of IPR/Patent works reported by faculty/staff members for acknowledging the efforts put in and rewarding the same. The committee recommends the following criteria for assessing the IPR/Patent works:

1. The amount of incentive as declared in the Research Awards policy is applicable for the whole invention and is expected to be distributed in order of contributions mentioned in IPR/patent work terms.
2. In case, IPR/patent works do not have a mention of proportion of contributions from each inventor, the format of research papers as declared in the above-mentioned policy will be applicable for determining the contribution from each inventor in order of their appearance in respective IPR/Patent work.
3. The incentive amount declared for IPR/Patent work in research policy is for top quality work in respective field as declared on www.wipo.org. In a nutshell, as per existing scenario until further modification, the incentive amount is 100% for U.S./Japanese/French/British patents, 75% for German/Chinese /Korean/Swiss patents. For rest all countries, the maximum "eligible amount" is 50%.
4. The eligible amount as mentioned at serial number-3 will be further estimated for, a) incentive, and b) 80% processing fee to be borne based on the position of GNIOT inventor in the whole group of inventors.
5. The incentive claimed under Patent Grant Category will not be considered under Patent Publish Category.
6. The inventors have to abide and declare the terms and conditions of GNIOT profit claims of 40% for becoming eligible to apply for incentive apart from making GNIOT as Inventor (case by case).

This may please be studied thoroughly before proceeding to register your claims for incentives for IPR/patents.

Abstract

Purpose – The aim of the present study is to find the tribological properties of newly developed polyester-based hybrid glass-jute fibre reinforced plastic composites loaded with different weight per cent of hybrid filler particles were investigated under a dry sliding medium from room temperature to 75°C.

Design/methodology/approach – The study was carried out using a pin-on-disc wear test set-up. The design of experiments was carried out in a controlled way using a central composite design based on response surface methodology to observe the effect of various parameters i.e. sliding velocity, sliding distance, the temperature of counterface and different applied load conditions during dry-sliding.

Findings – The maximum wear resistance was found at 9 Wt% loading of filler, 4 ms⁻¹ sliding velocity, 30 N applied load, 54°C temperature of the counterface and 1,100 m sliding distance condition. Optimum values of hybrid filler loading, sliding velocity, applied load, the temperature of the counterface and sliding distance for the minimum coefficient of friction value and minimum friction force are 9 Wt%, 4 ms⁻¹, 30 N, 54°C, 1,100 m and 12 Wt%, 3 ms⁻¹, 20 N, 59°C and 1,100 m, respectively. The worn surface morphology was studied using scanning electron microscope, for wear dominant mechanisms.

Originality/value – The tribological properties of newly developed polyester-based hybrid glass-jute fibre reinforced plastic composites loaded with different weight % of hybrid filler particles, were investigated under dry sliding medium from room temperature to 75°C has not been attempted yet.

1. Introduction

In recent years, hybrid fibre reinforced polymer (FRP) composites have been developed using hybrid fibres and hybrid fillers. Hybridization of fibres is an effort to replace the synthetic fibres with natural fibres partially or completely due to environment-related concerns and their safe and non-harmful disposal at the end of life. Nowadays, FRP composites made equipment and component parts are gaining popularity in marine, aerospace, automobile and other structural applications, but major concern related to their application is of

This paper proposes a maiden application of a two dimensional Sine Logistic map based chaotic sine cosine algorithm (2D-SLCSCA) optimized classical PID controller for load frequency control (LFC) of an islanded microgrid (MG). In comparison to random variables and 1D chaotic sequences, the 2D chaotic sequences are more ergodic and possess a wider chaotic range, thereby enhancing the global convergence speed and search capability of an algorithm. Initially, the proposed 2D-SLCSCA is tested on eight classical benchmark test functions and its performance is compared with 1D Logistic map based chaotic SCA (1D-LCSCA), 1D Sine map based chaotic SCA (1D-SCSCA), and the SCA incorporating random variables. Test results reveal that the proposed algorithm exhibits better convergence characteristics, statistics, and execution time. Finally, the proposed 2D-SLCSCA is implemented for the LFC analysis of the islanded MG. To establish the competence of the proposed algorithm in this regard, its performance is compared with 2D Hénon map based chaotic SCA, 2D Lozi map based chaotic SCA, improved salp swarm algorithm (ISSA), SCA, grey wolf optimizer (GWO), and particle swarm optimization (PSO) algorithm considering diverse load disturbance patterns in the MG. Simulation results affirm that the proposed control scheme augments the frequency response of the MG exhibiting a maximum percentage improvement of 78.89%, 78.86%, and 96.51% in peak overshoot (OS_{peak}), peak undershoot (US_{peak}) and objective function (OF_{ITSE}) value, respectively as compared to the other algorithms. Furthermore, sensitivity of the proposed 2D-SLCSCA is validated considering $\pm 30\%$ variation in the MG parameters.

1. Introduction

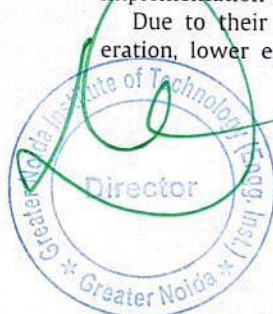

Increasing concerns over global warming due to harmful emissions from conventional power plants and gradual depletion of fossil fuel deposits have led the experts worldwide to shift their focus towards utilization of renewable energy sources (RESs) (like wind and solar energies) for power generation. These RESs possess inherent advantage of availability in abundance and are environmental friendly. The RESs when operated at low voltage/medium voltage levels in coordination with other distributed generation (DG) sources (like fuel cell, diesel engine generator, micro turbine, etc.), energy storage systems, control units, and electric loads constitute a small network that is capable enough to satisfy the power demand of its region. This small network is termed as an MG. Improved power quality, increased flexibility, reliable power supply, reduction in feeder capacity, and reduced transmission losses are the principal advantages associated with the MGs [1]. An MG is capable of operating either in grid-connected or islanded mode. In rest of the paper, MG and islanded MG have been used interchangeably. Although the MG expedites an increased penetration of the RESs but at the same time sporadic nature of these RESs and low inertia of the DG sources installed in the MG may cause an imbalance between the power generation and load demand. Consequently, this imbalance may result in intense frequency deviation problems in the MG (especially in the islanded mode). The resulting frequency deviations degrade the power quality, thus, affecting the reliability and stability of the MG. In such a regime LFC plays an indispensable role. LFC aims at restraining the frequency deviations within some pre-specified limits by reducing the disparity between the power generation and load demand, thereby preserving the power quality, reliability, and stability of the MG. To achieve this, proper implementation of an effective LFC strategy is obligatory.

Due to their simple structure, ease of tuning, reliable operation, lower expertise requirements, and a decent harmony

Minutes of Meeting (MoM) of meeting held between Additional Dean-Research and Development and Ph.D. faculty members on 28th March'2022

Prof. (Dr.) Vaibhav Shrivastava, Additional Dean-R&D conducted a presentation of 34 slides to provide an idea of reforming the research culture at GNIOT and tools to improve on that. Moreover, he informed the fleet of doctorates about open research funding opportunities with Science and Engineering Research Boards until 22nd April'2022 and motivated researchers to design problems for submission. The presentation started at 1.45pm and ended by 2.25pm. The highlights of the presentation of Dr. Vaibhav Shrivastava were as follows:

1. Self-motivation is MUST for growth in Research.
2. Categories of Research: Core and Multidisciplinary
3. Examples of how can anyone start?
4. Help from Research Cell on collaboration with National Institutes of Eminence.
5. Involving Undergraduates for research problems from the conclusion of 4th semester examinations.
6. Involving Postgraduates for handling problems with maturity and responsibly.
7. Collaborate for coupled research across departments.
8. Research schemes from SERB are open until 22nd April'2022 and will soon be open from UGC, DAE and AICTE.
9. Categories of Early Career Research for Young doctorates and Core Research Group for mature doctorates MUST be addressed by 10th April'2022 by writing an initial level of research proposal.
10. Research MOUs are under process with institutions like IIT Delhi, IIT Kharagpur, IIT Indore, IIT Patna, CSR Indore, DU, and DTU.

Later, Honorable Director Prof. (Dr.) Dhiraj Gupta opened the forum for discussions and suggestions in the light of elaborations by Dr. Vaibhav Shrivastava and earlier projected research targets by various departments.

1. Dr. Preety Verma Dhaka emphasized on need of MOU with companies in production and services to have coupled projects with them for students and faculty apart from training needed for students to understand research terms like abstract, literature review and software prez. Also she expressed that students should start research practices from the beginning of 3rd semester of their respective program.
2. Dr. Shivani Dubey expressed the need of open learning resources needed in research like latex and list of projects should be made open for all students and faculty for providing them an opportunity to get themselves coupled. Also she expressed the need of plagiarism software for institution.
3. Dr. Kirti highlighted the need of in-house FDPs and workshop
4. Dr. Vivek Gupta mentioned about sponsoring IEEE conference and registration fee for students and faculty.
5. Dr. Anil Dubey expressed the need of spectrum analyzer costing around Rs.3.5Lacs for better teaching and research practice.
6. Dr. Shailee Garg expressed the need to purchase basic VLSI tools for the better teaching led research practice.

7. Dr. Ravinder Kumar expressed the need of in-house teaching/research talks by all faculty members for familiarizing the background of respective research areas.
 8. Dr. Avinash Ravi Raja expressed about fading faculty retention in order to achieve research goals as a primary concern. The research problems initiated by one faculty member in a particular semester may not last even a year for a student due to this poor retention rate.
 9. Dr. Moti Singh suggests to seriously work on the research culture.
 10. Dr. Santosh K. Srivastava mentioned the need of research methodology teaching at lower levels of academic programs for providing students a flavor of research.
 11. Dr. Anuranjan Mishra mentioned on stressing the innovation part then moves to find research problems and suggested a method of asking students about their routine problems in daily life and start from there to develop a research problem.
 12. Dr. Deepak Kr. Verma wondered that students have serious challenges on simple understanding of formatting style, plagiarism, etc., before they can be prompted to take up a research problem by reading a paper. They can be given a mini project kind of platform before going to a research paper.
 13. Dr. Shweta Tyagi mentioned about much needed platform for exploring possibilities of coupled research and invited everyone to couple on some ongoing research problems by her.
 14. Dr. B.S. Chauhan expressed challenges on the part of non-availability of PhD students as he himself guided a student before 4 years and due to this inconsistency it is extremely difficult to remain motivated for research.
 15. Dr. R. K. Sharma expressed the desire to seriously work on three issues: team formation+basic infrastructure support+research culture.
 16. Dr. Vijay Shukla expressed his recent joining of the GNIOT family and found himself excited about efforts on establishing research culture.
 17. Honorable Director-QARM Prof.(Dr.) Rajesh Pathak expressed that problems and solutions go hand-in-hand, there is need to take a right approach, NEP emerges as a solution that mentions serious contribution of research practice in wholesome growth of a student in its interdisciplinary format. He suggested that let's start treating our self as a student and soon we can enrich our self.
 18. Dr. Ramveer Singh expressed his concern on how to maintain balance between quantity and quality of the research we aim to publish. As for various accreditation processes we are already lagging on numbers part.
 19. Dr. Dinesh Sharma invited everyone to couple with him on his research problems of Fluid Dynamics.
 20. Dr. Jai Shankar Prasad expressed his opinion on involving 6th semester students for research level problems as they have been already occupied with innovation based problems and provide them certificates of appreciation at a common platform.
 21. Dr. Hare Ram Singh agreed with the idea of research coupling from 2nd year onwards.
 22. Dr. Rajeev stressed upon establishment of a research cell and a dedicated team referring to the example of CPRC, collaboration with national research centers, incentives for students and faculty members, balance between teaching and research, effective coordination by Additional Dean-R&D.
 23. Dr. Amit Kr. Agarwal expressed the need of consultancy projects and immediate action plan to address that.
 24. Dr. Iqbal A Khan suggested that around 30% students groups must be provided interdisciplinary research problems, actual work balance with research, undergraduate research practice is already common in foreign universities at sufficient early level as immediately on joining a program.
- At 4pm around, Prof.(Dr.) Dhiraj Gupta closed the meeting for discussions and expected stakeholders involved to push themselves for contributions in order to grow themselves in research and thereby institution. He gave following concluding remarks:

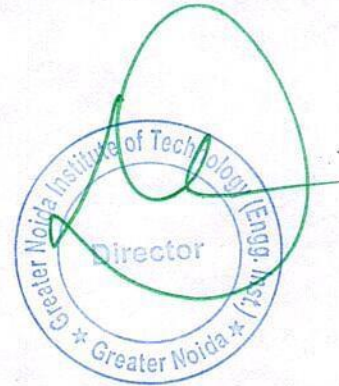

1. Departments should immediately address projected research targets with the help of Research Cell led by Dr. Vaibhav Shrivastava.
2. Dr. Vaibhav will design and monitor the execution process of projected research targets with the help of a research cell team whose members will be announced shortly.
3. Existing 2nd year batch moving towards the conclusion of their academic year, MUST be provided expected research targets by scheduled research teams/groups before they leave for their homes for summer break.
4. All doctorate faculty members MUST try to write research proposals for submission to SERB before 10th April'2022 so that editing can be done for final submission to SERB before 22nd April'2022.

Steps to find suitable journal in any domain:

1) Register yourself like shown below:

2) After logging in:

you will see the page as shown below: then click for right side tabs of UGC-CARE list as per YOUR target:

The screenshot shows the homepage of the University Grants Commission Consortium for Academic and Research Ethics (UGC-CARE). The header includes the UGC logo and navigation links: Home, About, UGC-CARE List, Feedback, FAQ, Resources, and Contact. A 'Logout' button is also present. The main content area features a '2023 update' section, a 'Message from Prof. M. Jagadeesh Kumar, Chairman, UGC' section, a 'List of cloned journals' section with links for Group I and Group II, a 'UGC-CARE List' section with a 'Quick Search' button, and an 'Important Notices' section with several bullet points regarding search processes and recommendations. There are also sections for 'Notifications', 'Videos', and 'Recent Publication'.

3) For example- You click on anyone out of Group-I or Group-II you reach at this page:

This screenshot shows the 'UGC-CARE List' page. It is divided into two main sections: 'UGC-CARE List Group I' and 'UGC-CARE List Group II'. Group I is described as 'Journals found qualified through UGC-CARE protocols'. Group II is described as 'Journals indexed in globally recognised databases'. Below these descriptions are lists of search engines and databases: 'Web of Science' (Arts & Humanities Citation Index, Science Citation Index Expanded, Social Sciences Citation Index), 'Scopus' (Scopus Source List), and 'MLA' (Directory of Periodicals by the Modern Language Association). A 'Search' box is also visible. On the right side of the page, there is a large blue circular stamp with a signature and the text 'Director, Greater Notice'.

4) After clicking on left link of Group-I journals:

UGC-CARE List

Note:
The UGC-CARE List is dynamic. If any good quality journal is missing, it may be submitted by following the prescribed process. If any undesired journal is found anywhere in the List, it may kindly be reported through feedback option. The UGC-CARE List is classified into i) Sciences ii) Social Sciences iii) Arts and Humanities and iv) Multidisciplinary based on All Science Journal Classification (ASJC) codes, which are created and maintained by Scopus (Elsevier Science). Journals indexed in Web of Science as well as Scopus or discontinued are not included in the count.

Inauguration and Launch of WIN platform for GNIOT stakeholders

Dear All,

Maybe some of you are already aware of this. Research and Innovation are ACTUALLY two parallel tracks available for any KEEN learner who is NOT satisfied with the knowledge provided by books, journals and magazines etc. A deeply involved researcher may not invent something and a dedicated innovator need not to do research but both are assets for an institution like ours.

There is a minimum % of such KEEN learners in any system BUT they do exist in silent mode. These have capacities to reach apex positions or create something unique in a short time.

GNIOT has already taken a SMART initiative to help these secret superstars by purchasing a very interesting application platform that can DRASTICALLY save the time of a dedicated learner to accelerate him/her on the tracks of INVENTING something unique. This platform is known as "WIN" designed by Innovation Next whose CEO is Sh. Pravin Rajpal.

In the coming month, we have plans to inaugurate our WIN platform by a renowned Innovation Hub CEO in the presence of Mr. Pravin Rajpal and dedicate the same to all of you by providing a passcode (your employee id, student enrollment like) that you can use to run the application on your phones, laptops etc.

I will advise all of you to surf the site <https://www.innovationnext.in/> and fetch some background information before we push you in a month to start using it. Attached pdf will assist you for the same.

I am creating a google form that you must use to register your interest in order to showcase the skills of an innovator within you.

Also, push your 2nd year, 3rd year, and 4th year students to fill the form and start building their secret skills as innovators. You can just forward this email to your student groups also.

Please feel free to approach me with any query that might have.

Best Wishes,

Dear All,

The research cell of GNIOT is delighted to share the launch process for the 22nd issue of its ISSN listed research journal 'Ekansh'. We are expecting quality research articles from the final year students of all courses. The issue should be released within 3 months.

All submitted manuscripts have to undergo a rigorous peer-review system that will be administered by the journal's editorial board with the help of an elite Advisory panel and executed by various established researchers belonging to different fields. The e-mail id for all manuscript submission and related communication is : journal-ekansh@gniot.net.in before we launch journal's website.

The accepted articles will be published under open-access category and will be allocated a specific DOI. The published version will be submitted to Scopus and UGC-Care for necessary listing and we have a target to get Ekansh listed in Clarivate and other renowned indexings too. The journal's website is under fabrication stage and is expected to take some time for launching. The updates regarding the same will be announced soon.

I, as Chief Editor of the Journal Ekansh, would like to invite you to contribute a precise quality report with words and figures not exceeding 3000 and 4 respectively supporting your research [electronic supplementary information (ESI) files have a data limit of 5MB]. The detailed guidelines to prepare format of the manuscript will be shared by 19th August 2022. By that time, you are advised to start collating your valuable research results and summarising in the form of a double spaced, 12-font size, single column report before you are advised to convert the same into a recommended format.

Through the same email, I would also like to request you all to extend the information about our 22nd upcoming issue of journal Ekansh in your professional network so that we are in a position to attract quality reports from the researchers outside GNIOT as well.

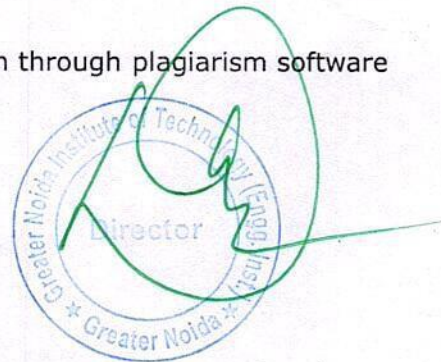

For assisting you in the manuscript communication process and other details, the attached cover page of the upcoming 22nd issue contains the information on editorial board members who can be closely connected to you in your institutes and departments.

This is important to note that all submitted manuscripts will be run through plagiarism software "turnitin" before those are sent to the reviewers.

Waiting for your valuable research contributions.

Best Wishes,
